Parent's night about: reading aloud

Next Tuesday, Oct. 08, there will be a parent night dedicated to reading aloud. The information will be given by the OBA counselor and is for all parents (grades 1-8). The information will be from 18:30 - 19:30. The walk-in is from 6:15 pm. Because reading aloud is very important for children's development, we hope to see many of you then. You are most welcome!

Start Children's Book Week

On Wednesday, October 2, we again traditionally opened Children's Book Week.

The theme this year is: Pretty Cocky and how cocky some teachers looked.

Today, as part of the Children's Book Week, the students of groups 1 to 3 watched the performance of Mister B in the hall of the school.

The students of groups 7 and 8 went to the OBA on the Oosterdoksade (the big library) and saw the performance Fatboys.

Reading aloud

Classteacher Ferhaad gave instruction on how to read aloud to several students in grades 6 through 8 so they can read to the children in preschool and grades 1 through 5. Reading aloud from the older students to the younger students will happen throughout Children's Book Week.

Schoollibrary

We have an extensive collection in our school library where many titles from The Children's Book Week are also available for students to borrow. Students are not allowed to take these books home so ... If your child wants to escape into a book at home: make your child a member of the Amsterdam Public Library (OBA). Membership up to 19 years is free!

Action Children's Book Week

For Children's Book Week 2024, Pieter wrote the book Treasure Packers. In it, Nevin is sent out by her father. Unjustly, she thinks. So she takes the car key so he can't go to the soccer game. But then she drops the key in a well. Suddenly a strange, high-pitched voice sounds. "Ooo... Honey! A dark blue hand appears, snatches the key from among the leaves and disappears again. Then Nevin has a problem. Fortunately, there are two children who want to help her. Children who are always bullied at school, including by Nevin.... You get this book for free when you spend €13.50 at the bookstore.

The Children's Book Week picture book was created by Noëlle Smit. Among other things, she illustrated Picture Book of the Year 2011 Fiet wil rennen, Silver Brush winner Dirt Pigs Job and Bob and poems by Annie M.G. Schmidt. For Children's Book Week 2024, she illustrated The Quadruplets on the Window Sill. This picture book is about four baby plants neatly lined up in the windowsill. They grow fast, because Rosa makes sure they get enough water, sun and attention. But when the plants get too big for their pots, they have to go outside, into the ground. Rosa's mother takes them to her vegetable garden, where the plants can stand among all the lush greenery. Rosa is not at all happy about that, because everything is far too jumbled up. There are also snails and caterpillars. And old wind can never be good for her sweet little plants. Rosa draws her own tight plan.

You can purchase this picture book for the special price of €7.99 at the bookstore.

De schooldentist

The school dentist is coming back to school. She will start on Monday, October 21. Please also see the letter from the dentist attached.
